

Student Appeals, Complaints, and Grievances

To ensure student success, the university offers comprehensive academic policies outlined in the catalog, promoting a transparent and supportive learning environment. These policies aim to ensure that students are treated equitably by setting clear rules and guidelines. Policies also provide a framework for consistent decision-making and action, and reduce arbitrary or biased decisions. Understanding that individual circumstances vary, the university provides an appeal process for students with verifiable extenuating circumstances, and a complaint/grievance process through the Office of the Provost.

I. Purpose:

This procedure outlines the steps for addressing student appeals, complaints and grievances, ensuring fair and timely resolution.

II. Scope

This procedure applies to all student enrolled at North Dakota State University.

III. General Principles:

- Direct Resolution: Encourage initial attempts at direct resolution between involved parties.
- Escalation: Provide clear channels for escalation when direct resolution fails (i.e. appeals, complaints, and grievances).
- Confidentiality: Maintain appropriate confidentiality throughout the process.
- Fairness and Impartiality: Ensure fair and impartial handling of all complaints.

IV. Procedure Steps:
